High School Students Should pass exit tests before they graduate I Agree. Because If you don't pass exit tests ~~before~~ you might not graduate. you might have to do the tests before you graduate But I think you should take it.

Score Point: 1

This response reflects fundamental deficiencies in persuasive writing skills. The writer takes the position that students should pass exit tests before they graduate from high school. However, no information is presented to support this position. In addition, the response is repetitive and there is no evidence of organization.
